

Linguistics 101, Part 2

As bilingual professionals we hear linguistic phrases tossed around constantly, but if English is our native language, it can be difficult to explain what they are and more importantly, how we apply them. In Part 1, we discussed phonology, morphology, and syntax, both in English and ASL. Part 2 will review these topics but add 2 other linguistic features: semantics and pragmatics. How do you know which words to use and in what settings? How do we know what register to use and what vocabulary matches them? It will compare both similarities and differences between the two languages contributing to a greater understanding of our work as bilingual professionals. (Participating in Part 1 is NOT a prerequisite for Part 2).

$30.00: General

$20.00: VRID Members

Workshop Contact:

Register online: <https://vrid.wildapricot.org/events>

Zoom Link will be provided after registration.

Christina York – cyork@sorenson.com

Jubal Metzger-Smith, NIC

Jubal has been professionally interpreting for 23 years in a variety of settings including, K-12, post-secondary, medical, mental health, theatrical, and VRS. Currently he is the lead interpreter for a school district in southern Virginia. He received his BA in English from Old Dominion University (ODU) and he anticipates receiving his Master of Arts in Applied Linguistics from ODU in the spring of 2021.

Saturday, December 19, 2020 (9:00am – 12:00pm)
- 0.3 CEUs

RID Activity #: 0080.1220.02

